HAVE A LOOK

AT OUR SILVER LEVER WATCH at Rs. 35 before buying, and you will give it the preference before any other.

The Watch as it is now, is the result of 20 years experience in the Indian watch trade, and we guarantee it to be the most perfect watch ever offered to the public for such a small outlay.

Being the manufacturers ourselves, the buyer obtains the watch from first hand. This explains its cheapness.

The Watches are of medium size in heavy engine turned silver cases, either hunting or half hunting. Guarantee 3 years.

To be obtained only direct from our firms at Bombay, Calcutta, and Secunderabad.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 26.

OWING to the Whitsuntide holidays, we have no telegrams from London or Liverpool to-day, and business here is accordingly very quiet.

COTTON.—The New York telegram, reporting a decline of 9 points in futures, has tended to weaken our market slightly in tone, but, prices are not altered in any way, sellers still adhering to their previous level of Rs. 201 for Good Dholleras. Business is reported in Fine Bhownuggurs at Rs. 210½, but only to a small extent.

WHEAT is quiet at previous quotations, say Rs. 3-12 to Rs. 3-12½ for No. 1 White Pessy, Rs. 3-9 for No. 1 Club Delhi and Rs. 3-5 per cwt. for Red Delhi.

SEEDS are unchanged, exporters being indisposed to operate with any freedom pending fresh advices from home.

IN FREIGHTS there is no special movement to notice, the market being dull at our yesterday's quotations.

EXCHANGE has ruled extremely quiet to-day, very little private paper being offered. Banks have only reduced their drawing rates 1-32d., but being willing buyers, are offering 1-16d. better terms for credits. We quote :—

Bank Bills on demand	...Is. 6 15-16d.	per Rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	...Is. 6 29-32d.	,,
Do. Three months' sight	...Is. 7 1-32d.	,,
Credits ,, ,,	...Is. 7 3-16d.	,,
France ,, ,,	...2·02½	,,

GOVERNMENT PAPER is very irregular under the influence of conflicting speculative movements. For Cash Fours have receded to Rs. 95½, and for June delivery there have been sellers down to Rs. 94½. Fours-and-a-half we quote at Rs. 98½.

SHARES are quiet, and practically without change in value.

The Bombay Gazette

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1885.

THE Administration Report of the State of Cutch for the year 1883-84 exhibits in an instructive way the steady development of a subsidiary State, in the hands of native administrators working under the supervision of British agents. Much of the interest which the report yields is of a personal kind. It deals with one of the early years of the rule of a young Prince who has begun his career with the advantages of an excellent education, of excellent counsel from British and native advisers, and of excellent example in the ways of good government from the Council of Regency who directed the State during his minority. In Europe a long minority is not usually deemed an advantage either to prince or people; but in India there have not been wanting instances in which both have profited by it, and His Highness of Cutch has no reason to lament the destiny which placed his territory under the care of a Council of Regency for six years. He has entered upon an inheritance which many of his neighbours might envy. A revenue which had been almost stationary grew during the term of his minority from fourteen lakhs and three-quarters to more than twenty lakhs; the agricultural revenues of the State developed largely; public works were carried out in all directions with an enterprise fitly controlled by a regard for the needs and the capacities of a small State; the number of schools was almost trebled, and of scholars more than doubled; and the administration of justice has improved in a noteworthy way. One fact will strikingly illustrate the advance that Cutch has made during the last ten years in this important particular. At the end of last year three criminals remained untried in the State; in 1875-76 there were 387 criminal cases remaining untried, and 780 persons awaiting trial. The young Rao, therefore, succeeds to an inheritance which, by the care and vigilance of his countrymen and of the agents of the Paramount Power, has been put into admirable order. Great expectations are entertained regarding him, both by the Secretary of State for India, who in a recent despatch expressed his satisfaction at the indications which His High training he had received, and his hope that he would prove a capable and enlightened ruler; and by the Government of Bombay, who remark that in the superior education which His Highness has received there is an additional security for the progress of education in the State. The Rao has, indeed, been fortunate in having had for his political school-master so shrewd an administrator as Mr. Manabhai Jasbhai. Mr. Manabhai's account of the manner in which he has endeavoured to initiate the young Rao into the art and mystery of government reminds one of the mornings which Lord Melbourne used to spend in teaching the young Queen Victoria all that a Queen should know. "I have endeavoured," writes Mr. Manabhai, "since my arrival in Cutch last August, to lay before His Highness some of the grand fundamental principles of sound administration which ought to form the basis of every enlightened Government. His Highness sits at work almost every day, and he has an intuitive eagerness to learn. You know what great capacity he possesses, and it is a pleasure to state that the progress which His Highness has made in administrative matters does him great credit." It is a pity, in the interests of Cutch, that the relationship between the Dewan and his promising pupil will shortly be severed by the removal of Mr. Manabhai to the post of Dewan of Baroda.

One fact which stands out in the administration report is that although the supervision and guidance of the British authorities has been constant and careful, the State has been allowed to progress to a very large extent in its own way. It cannot even be said that the ideal of "English brains and native hands" has been set up in the State. The country has strongly marked local peculiarities, and these have not been interfered with. There is no want of reforming energy in Cutch, but in that matter the motto of its administration seems to be "hasten slowly." The Rao and his advisers have probably grasped sufficiently those "grand fundamental principles of sound administration" which the Dewan has endeavoured to impress upon his pupil to see that export duties upon commodities exposed to competition are open to the gravest objection. Mr. Manabhai, indeed, frankly declares that the increase of export duty from four to six per cent., especially on a raw and principal staple produce like cotton, is against all recognised principles, and he adds that in all civilised countries the tendency is to, as much as possible, free the exports, and thus to enable them to compete favourably with similar articles from other countries in foreign markets. Something was done in mitigation of these impolitic imposts when the Rao was installed on the gadi, last November. If we may offer advice upon this point without being reminded that the Indian Government still levy an export duty on rice, we should urge the Cutch administration to lose no time in completing the policy thus initiated. The Council of Administration seem to be fully alive to the fiscal and economic requirements of the State. They have taken anxious thought concerning the best means of developing an export trade in wheat and cotton, the principal staples of the country. Like their neighbours they have given much attention to the improvement of the growth of cotton; like them, too, they have been greatly exercised with the question of cotton frauds. Whatever conclusion they may arrive at in regard to either matter, the mere fact that these questions have been taken into consideration shows the anxiety of those who are responsible for the development of the State to keep abreast with the necessities of the time.

But the Cutchees are an enterprising people, who lay their account for dealing with a wide market, and they will not, in the long run, be blind to their own interests. Where they are conservative, there is usually good reason for their conservatism. It is not merely because of the antiquity of the custom that they cling to the Bhag-batai method of revenue collection. Sir James Caird has lately pointed out certain very cogent reasons in favour of the payment of revenue in kind, at any rate in the smaller States, and Mr. Manabhai urges that the province of Cutch being deficient in rainfall and exposed to the chances of famine every alternate year, the Bhag-batai system is best suited for the State lands there. But other things being equal, the presumption is largely in favour of cash payments, and new experiments with it are about to be tried. The case is one which will better be decided by experiment than by dogmatic teaching upon the subject, and Lord Mayo's warning against telling the Indian agriculturists on the one hand what they already know, and on the other hand what it is impossible for them to carry out, seems peculiarly applicable to it. Not less primitive than the collection of revenue in kind is the system of State guarantee for advances made by the soukar to the ryot in anticipation of the harvest. Mr. Manabhai speaks of this as an indigenous and practical nucleus of an agricultural bank—a way of introducing the subject which only makes us regret that he has not told us more about the actual working of the system; about the terms on which the advances were made, the purpose to which they were applied, and the efficacy of the system as a safeguard against habitual and crushing indebtedness. The Cutch authorities have not been deterred by the difficulties that have been experienced in connection with the forest law in India from aspiring to a Forest Department of their own. The forests of the country, it is true, are few and far between, but for some years past there has been a more or less systematic planting of trees by the revenue authorities, and the time has come when the work may with advantage be extended and organised. About a fourth of the province of Cutch is hill country and unarable land, which can be afforested without diminishing the culturable area and without infringing upon the rights and liberties of any of the Rao's subjects. In such a country it ought to be easier to carry out a forest policy than it has proved to be elsewhere, in the midst of tribes with prescriptive rights over forest produce—rights which the authorities have not always been able to recognise. In Cutch the experiment would have a scientific rather than a political interest. We wish, indeed, that nearer home than Cutch it were possible to look on forest questions exclusively from the scientific point of view.

WE have been asked what reason there was for the peculiar and unaccountable position in which the Bombay Volunteers were placed during the Birthday Parade on Monday. The explanation can best be supplied by the military authorities, who, we suppose, have a reason for what they do, even when they alter their arrangements at the last moment, to the confusion of everybody concerned. A good deal is said about the desire of the Government to encourage the Volunteer movement in India. Let us hope that this is not a desire which merely exists in the abstract, and which, when it takes concrete shape, sometimes becomes transformed into an inclination to be the reverse of helpful to the force. The Volunteer officers were supplied in good time with a programme of the brigade movements, with which they had taken the trouble to make the mselves acquainted. It was only on parade, as the men were falling in, that an amended list was put into their hands which ended with the order "the artillery will wheel to the left, and march to quarters followed by the Volunteers." The sudden change of orders was therefore not by any means the only point of which the corps has to complain. They cannot be deemed to be oversensitive if they take it as the reverse of a compliment to have been marched off the parade ground and dismissed while the rest of the brigade were completing the march past. One officer, jealous of the honour of the corps, has declared that had they known they were going to be treated like this not a man would have appeared on parade. Nor would they have been greatly to blame if in this way they had protested against a graceless and an unnecessary slight. Far less offence would have been given had the Volunteers been left out of the programme altogether.

M. E. VAN EETVELDE, who has for some time past held the post of Consul-General for Belgium in Bombay, has been nominated by the King of the Belgians as Minister of Commerce and Foreign Affairs for the new Congo State. The Brussels paper, La Chronique, says that M. Van Eetvelde, who is scarcely thirty years of age, entered the consular service of his country in China, where he became thoroughly familiar with the Chinese language. His reports to the Belgian Government were remarkably able, and the good impression which they made upon his Government gained for him the appointment of Consul-General in British India. M. Van Eetvelde, acting under the immediate orders of King Leopold, will at once set about the political and administrative organisation of the new African State.

A RESOLUTION of the Bombay Government informs the Municipality that H. E. the Governor in Council having consulted the new Surgeon-General, Dr. Moore, on the subject of the advisability of employing honorary surgeons in the Goculdas Tejpal Hospital, has learned that, in his opinion, the experiment has not succeeded, and is not likely to succeed, in Bombay, though under different conditions a similar system has proved successful in England. In this view the Governor in Council concurs. Dr. Boustead's adverse opinion of the manner in which the scheme worked is quoted to show that it is not the case that Dr. Hojel was alone in his opinion that success could not be looked for.

THE MAHABLESHWAR SEASON.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MAY 22.

THE greatest delights and most entertaining pastimes pall if oft repeated, and certainly the echoes grow tedious; suffice it therefore to say that the past week has been as jolly as many of its forerunners. I leave to imagination the charming scenes at the race-course on Tuesday, when the hospitable tent with its well-laden tables was contributed by Lady Reay and graced by her queenly presence. Mr. Hanwell, the moving spirit of these Mahableshwur Derbies, was of course there in full force—the admired of all beholders.

Those who are suffering from tournaments on the brain are not likely to recover yet awhile, but the ups and downs of the complaint interest chiefly the patients themselves. The badminton tournament resulted in a glorious victory won by Mr. Piers and Miss Codrington over Mr. Crowe and Miss Johnstone. The opponents were so fairly matched that the interest in the contest was keen, and the winners received quite an ovation.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Reay left Mahableshwar on Thursday afternoon, but it is hoped and believed that they will return to Bella Vista after wishing the Duke and Duchess of Connaught God-speed. The few days at Mahableshwar preceding the break of the monsoon are the most refreshing and beautiful of the season; while the same in the plains, where clouds are superadded to heat and oppression, are the raining days of oppression and misery, and are keenly felt by those who, after enjoying better things, hasten away through fear of being caught in the burst, or in obedience to the call of duty.

His Excellency the Governor, when on his way to Bombay, spared time to stop at the pretty little station of Panchgani and give the prizes to the children of the Panchgani High School. It is a great wonder that the station of Panchgani does not grow; a cool salubrious climate all the year round, good water, fertile soil, cheap food, should attract residents in large numbers. Nature has fitted Panchgani for European colonisation, and yet the total number of houses on the hill is twenty-six, or thereabouts, and no signs of growth appear. The high well-ventilated school-room does duty as church on Sunday, so there is nothing wanting. It is matter for wonderment that Mr. Burgess is not perplexed by excess of applicants for the vacancies in his boarding-house, especially in these days of impecuniosity and of 25 per cent. loss in exchange between India and England. Electric lights have been placed in Port Philip heads for illuminating the channel in the event of a night attack. At Sydney heavier guns are being mounted. The Massilia and Lusitania are being fitted out as cruisers. At Adelaide great activity is being displayed. Several fast steamers are being fitted up as torpedo and gun boats. The Queensland Government are making vigorous preparations to meet a possible outbreak of war.

BIRTHDAY PARADE AT CALCUTTA.

CALCUTTA, MAY 26.

Yesterday's birthday review was a great success. The troops who took part in the proceedings were the Mounted Company of the Calcutta Volunteer Rifles, the 7th Bengal Cavalry, the Liverpool Regiment, the Calcutta Naval Volunteers, the Calcutta Volunteer Rifles, and the 11th and 42nd Native Infantry, under General Wilkinson, commanding the Presidency District. There was the usual feu de joie after each instalment of ten guns, the massed bands playing portions of the National Anthem. The troops in a body responded to the call of General Wilkinson, and gave three ringing cheers for the Queen. The business of the day ended with a grand march past. The 11th Native Infantry are said to have acquitted themselves the best. The Volunteers were present in numbers, but did not muster quite so strongly as might have been expected under the circumstances.

THE RESIDENT AT MYSORE.

Early this morning the booming of thirteen guns from the ramparts of Fort William announced the arrival of Mr. C. E. Girdlestone, late Resident in Nepal. He leaves Calcutta on Thursday, on his way to Mysore, to take up the duties of Mr. J. B. Lyell during the latter's absence on furlough.

THE Madras Times hears that Mr. J. D. Rees, C.S., succeeds the late Major Awdry as Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor. Mr. Rees is not new to the post, as he acted in it last year from the 16th of July to the 13th October, during Major Awdry's absence on leave. He has the reputation of being a very able member of the service, and will be remembered that his services to Mr. Grant Duff in the preparation of His Excellency's last minute on his tours were gracefully acknowledged by the Governor in a note to that minute. Mr. Rees attained nine years' standing on the 10th of November last.

THE Madras Times also hears that Rajah the Honourable Gajapathi Row, so well known for his charities and public spirit, has offered to place at the disposal of Government a sum of one lakh of rupees, to be utilised in the construction of a battery on the Dolphin's Nose at Vizagapatam for the defence of the port.

IT is announced by the same paper that the local Government are taking the necessary steps to ensure the safety of Madras against attack from the sea. "We are not to depend only on the four 12-ton guns on the beach for our protection, but we are to have two 32-ton guns, which will be placed in better positions than any of our big guns now occupy."

THE Government of India have, it is stated, called for revised Forest Budgets, in which all items which it is possible to dispense with or postpone are to be expunged. Timber operations are not to be interfered with, nor the carrying out of fire-protection and the formation and demarcation of forest reserves, but all temporary establishments are to be dispensed with, the carrying out of cultural experiments put a stop to, and the purchase of stock limited to the utmost.

IT is stated that Colonel Lockhart will be accompanied on his mission to Gilgit by Colonel Woodthorpe, R. E., of the Survey; Captain E. Barrow, of the Intelligence Branch; and Dr. G. M. J. Giles, who undertakes the work of geologist and naturalist. A small escort of twenty sepoys will complete the party, which among other things is to complete the survey of the north-west frontier of Kashmere.

NEW game laws for Kashmere have been introduced by the Maharajah, under the advice of Sir Oliver St. John, with the object of preserving the game, which has lately been in danger of extermination. The first step in the direction of game preservation was taken by His Highness at the end of last season by making a close preserve of the country lying between the Sind and Lidar rivers, and, in the regulations it is notified that this ground as well as the Province of Juummoo proper, will be closed to shooting. Even on the shooting grounds of the open Himalayas, where the game is constantly being recruited from the vast and untouched retreats that lie beyond, such as the Pandit A. K. came across in his wanderings in Tibet, the decrease is generally admitted. But in the isolated Kashmere Valley the only resource against absolute extinction, now the country is so much shot over, is to create reserves where animals can breed in security.

EVERY person, visitor or native, shooting in Kashmere will henceforth have to take out a license lasting for the season. The license is strictly non-transferable. "This," remarks an up-country paper, "should do away with the complaints so often heard of late of so-called sportsmen who remain by their tents while giving their rifles to their shikaris, together with an unlimited order for 'heads.' The destruction of the females of all the principal animals is forbidden—superfluously, let us hope, as far as the visitor is concerned—and a close season established for winged game that lasts from the 31st March to the 25th August; and here is an example which might surely be well followed by the Governments, especially such as have Himalayan districts under their control. It is a melancholy thing when marching on a hill road in the month of May to be offered by a vagabond pahari the body of a hen pheasant shot probably on the nest; and even the pahari, of course, is the worse off for his felony, if he only knew it."

THE Civil and Military Gazette writes :—"Reuter seems very anxious to telegraph everything that speaks well for the shifty vacillations, evasions, and retreats which are dignified by the name of Mr. Gladstone's policy; while the exposures which so often occur are, if possible, ignored. For instance, Reuter telegraphed on May 16 :—"The statements made in various quarters that Russia has rejected the British proposals regarding the Afghan boundary are believed to be exaggerated." But it had been left to the correspondent of the Bombay Gazette to telegraph these statements, though they were admittedly made in various quarters, and were most likely more reliable than Reuter's theory as to their being exaggerated. The Pall Mall's contradiction now gives them further importance, though not in the way Reuter seems to think."

IT is reported that there are about 3,000 Russian troops from Sarakhs to Zulfikar and 3,000 from Merv to Penjdeh, while at Askabad there may be perhaps 10,000 men. The telegraph line has been completed to Kakhaks, 100 or 120 miles east of Askabad. It will be constructed to Merv, with a branch line to Sarakhs. The railway is expected to be completed as far as Askabad in three months. The correspondent of the Pioneer with the Bombay Commission says that the burning of the ground on the lower Tejend must interfere to some extent with the movements of Russian troops and the communications between Askabad and Merv.

THE story of the three captured Tekkes is repeated once more. The real facts are that some of the Afghan stragglers and wounded, who had got cut off from their own people and were accompanying the British officers in their retirement from Ak Tapa, on the celebrated 30th March, fell in with three Tekke patrols from the Russian outpost at Ak Robat, on the road near Islim. Smarting under the sense of defeat, the Afghans were eager to do something towards equalising matters by shooting these men; but Captain Yate took them under his protection, kept them till the Afghans had passed on, and then sent them on their way with a note to their commanding officer. The incident shows with what tempero and moderation the members of the Commission acted throughout under the most trying circumstances.

COLONEL LEMESURIER writes from Rawalpindi to contradict the reports attributing the fatal accident which occurred near Cambellpore, on the 4th instant, to the fire of a battery of artillery whilst at gun practice in that neighbourhood. The explosion of the shell, by which five villagers were killed, and a sixth wounded, did not take place, he says, until after the practice was over, and the battery were on their return home to cantonments. A careful investigation has shown that the shell was a 40-pounder which had been fired more than one hour previously during that morning's practice. It had been prepared with a wooden time fuze, and had fallen "blind" on the range, not near a village as was stated, but far away from any habitation, on the authorised practice ground, which had been duly guarded during the firing. As by no possibility could this shell have gone off of itself after lying on the ground for at least one hour and a half after it had been fired, some person must have subsequently handled it; and though the only survivor asserts the contrary, there can be little doubt that the unfortunate men had on the conclusion of the practice, found the shell, and were at the time endeavouring to extract the powder from it with their steel reaping hooks, and that they thus occasioned their own death.

A PROJECT has lately been submitted to the Punjab Government by Mr. B. G. Wallis, Executive Engineer of the Jullundur Division, for the construction of a light railway from Jullundur to Hoshiarpur. The estimated outlay, including rolling-stock, amounts to 8½ lakhs, or about 33,000 rupees per mile. The object is to provide for the very considerable passenger traffic which exists between Jullundur and Hoshiarpur, and as there are no engineering difficulties in the way, and no land would have to be taken up, the line being laid beside the existing road, it would probably prove a remunerative undertaking.

THE departure of Mr. A. B. Patterson, Magistrate and Collector of Allahabad, has been postponed until the 9th or 10th of June. The return of Mr. R. Smeaton from leave in England will then enable Mr. C. J. Connell to take over Mr. Patterson's office, until the arrival of his permanent successor, Mr. F. W. Porter, in the autumn.

A SAD affair is reported from the frontier. The woordie major of the 1st Punjab Cavalry was accidentally shot by a recruit at target practice on the 5th instant. The fault lay with the native officer himself, who, contrary to the rule expressly laid down in Musketry Regulations, told the recruit to aim at his eye. The woordie major had been lately checked by the adjutant for this very practice; and it was only a few minutes before that a non-commissioned officer had been checked for ordering a recruit to aim with an empty carbine at his eye. In this instance the act escaped the attention of the officer in charge, who was otherwise engaged at the moment. The carbine accidentally went off, and the woordie major fell, shot through the head.

LORD BRABOURNE, who as Mr. Knatchbull-Hugessen was Under-Secretary for the Colonies in Mr. Gladstone's former Administration, has subscribed to a Conservative Association in Kent, accompanying his subscription with a letter in which he says :—"It appears to me that the time has now come when men who have hitherto called themselves Moderate Liberals must choose between giving their support to what is called the Conservative Party, or allowing the weight of their influence and character to be cast on the side of men whose opinions are in reality far more at variance with their own."

THE Economist thus severely comments upon Mr. Childers's Budget :—For a Government which has always piqued itself upon being able to pay its way, this Budget is a sad downfall, and it is worse than useless for the two pliant friends of the Ministry to attempt to excuse it on the ground that it is a War Budget. That is not true, to begin with, because all that has hitherto been done is to place our forces in a state of preparation for war, should that, unfortunately, be forced upon us. And besides, even if we omit the whole of the six-and-a-half millions voted for war preparations, there remains a million of uncovered expenditure. In other words, the Government have not even made provision for the amount which they have asked for on account of the Egyptian expedition, and for their failure to do this, at all events, there is no shadow of excuse. And if it be the case that war is before us, what is to be said of a Budget which, not only fails to raise a single penny towards the cost of the war, but also fails even to provide money to meet the interest on the new loans which a war must necessitate. The vote of credit has been described as the shaking of our money-bags in the face of Europe. But it has been reserved to Mr. Childers to show that the bags are empty, and that while the Government is bold in asking Parliament to sanction a large additional expenditure, it is too chickenhearted to ask the taxpayers, especially on the eve of a general election, to provide the money. For this timidity we hold there is no excuse, for the country is well able to pay its way, and ready to pay if called upon. But we are on the eve of a general election, and that explains much.

A TRIBUTE TO A SPORTSMAN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I solicit the favour of a small corner in your valuable columns to bring to the notice of the European community the claims to some public recognition of Mr. Hormusjee Eduljee Kotwal, the gallant Parsee sportsman of tiger-slaying fame, who has for many years been employed in the forests of Bansda territory in Surat district. A small public subscription has been set on foot to present to Mr. Kotwal a handsome rifle, with a suitable inscription, in token of the high admiration with which his conspicuous gallantry in bagging more than a hundred tigers of all denominations is viewed by the public in Guzerat and Bombay. A fund of Rs. 400 is considered quite sufficient to carry out the objects of this memorial; and in order to allow a large number of subscribers to mark their sense of the great nerve and daring displayed by this brave sportsman—an unprecedented example among the native community—subscriptions are limited to Rs. 5 and downwards. In spite of this small maximum, more than Rs. 225 have been already subscribed by a large number in very small sums, and subscriptions are still pouring in, representing, with the exception only of our European friends, the different nationalities of which the community in Bombay is composed. With an earnest desire, therefore, to see at least a few English names represented in this list, I beg you will allow me to invite, through the medium of your journal, all lovers of manly sport and bold adventure among Europeans to co-operate in showing their appreciation of the remarkable courage of a humble but brave native villager, and thus to encourage in the people a desire for manliness and deeds of valour.

In order to ensure success to this my appeal to your European readers, it is due to them that I should explain briefly the grounds on which the movement in honour of Mr. Hormusjee Kotwal is based. He belongs neither to the aristocracy of wealth nor to the republic of letters. Born at Nowsari near Surat, he has passed his life in the out-of-the-way forests of Bansda. He is not an educated man in the ordinary sense of modern times, and with all the old conservative habits he even dresses in the orthodox Hindu style, with a red turban on the head and heavy silver anklets, presents from the native Chief he serves, hanging over his native shoes. His love of sport, he says, he first acquired twenty-five years ago, from the valorous English race. Thick forests to the extent of some thirty miles in circumference in Bansda abound with tigers of all descriptions, and continue to attract European sahibs in search of sport. It was the sight of one of these brave sons of the British race killing one of these wild denizens of the forest that excited in Mr. Kotwal a burning desire to do likewise when he was a young man of about thirty years; and pluck and perseverance, the last two ordinary sense of modern times, and with all the old conservative habits he even dresses in the orthodox Hindu style, with a red turban on the head and heavy silver anklets, presents from the native Chief he serves, hanging over his native shoes. His love of sport, he says, he first acquired twenty-five years ago, from the valorous English race. Thick forests to the extent of some thirty miles in circumference in Bansda abound with tigers of all descriptions, and continue to attract European sahibs in search of sport. It was the sight of one of these brave sons of the British race killing one of these wild denizens of the forest that excited in Mr. Kotwal a burning desire to do likewise when he was a young man of about thirty years; and pluck and perseverance, the last two of which qualities, as his practice generally has been to attack them at night with unfailing success on some of the darkest nights. The English rifle is his ordinary weapon, with which he ventures out in the dead of night, accompanied by a retinue of beaters, and he reaches his prey without the usual loud alarms. The largest tiger he has slain was 13 feet in length and 8 in height, and four bullocks were required to drag the beast to the cutcherry for official verification and record. The Chief of Bansda, with his queen and staff, honoured the shikaree with a personal inspection of the extraordinary "bag," and they made special presents, besides the usual reward paid by the State. It speaks much in his favour that Mr. Kotwal is so well known to European sportsmen in his districts, that they often wish for his company in their adventurous trips, and the Bansda generally permits him to guide them in their sports. Mr. Hormusjee accompanied H. H. Pratap Singhji of Bansda during his visit to Bombay in February last, when he was duly introduced to, and warmly complimented by, H. E. Sir James Fergusson, who said he had heard of him before.

NOW, sir, all this may not appear very striking to Europeans, who can boast of a Mulock, a Properi, or a Chatfield, famous in shikar in the tiger-slaying line. But to us natives Mr. Kotwal's astonishing feats are simply marvellous, and I trust I am not far from the truth when I venture to remark that the wholesale slaughter of tigers like those shot by Mr. Kotwal is a rare achievement even among Europeans. I trust, therefore, that my appeal to them in my own poor way during that morning's practice. It had been prepared with a wooden time fuze, and had fallen "blind" on the range, not near a village as was stated, but far away from any habitation, on the authorised practice ground, which had been duly guarded during the firing. As by no possibility could this shell have gone off of itself after lying on the ground for at least one hour and a half after it had been fired, some person must have subsequently handled it; and though the only survivor asserts the contrary, there can be little doubt that the unfortunate men had on the conclusion of the practice, found the shell, and were at the time endeavouring to extract the powder from it with their steel reaping hooks, and that they thus occasioned their own death.

A PROJECT has lately been submitted to the Punjab Government by Mr. B. G. Wallis, Executive Engineer of the Jullundur Division, for the construction of a light railway from Jullundur to Hoshiarpur. The estimated outlay, including rolling-stock, amounts to 8½ lakhs, or about 33,000 rupees per mile. The object is to provide for the very considerable passenger traffic which exists between Jullundur and Hoshiarpur, and as there are no engineering difficulties in the way, and no land would have to be taken up, the line being laid beside the existing road, it would probably prove a remunerative undertaking.

THE departure of Mr. A. B. Patterson, Magistrate and Collector of Allahabad, has been postponed until the 9th or 10th of June. The return of Mr. R. Smeaton from leave in England will then enable Mr. C. J. Connell to take over Mr. Patterson's office, until the arrival of his permanent successor, Mr. F. W. Porter, in the autumn.

A SAD affair is reported from the frontier. The woordie major of the 1st Punjab Cavalry was accidentally shot by a recruit at target practice on the 5th instant. The fault lay with the native officer himself, who, contrary to the rule expressly laid down in Musketry Regulations, told the recruit to aim at his eye. The woordie major had been lately checked by the adjutant for this very practice; and it was only a few minutes before that a non-commissioned officer had been checked for ordering a recruit to aim with an empty carbine at his eye. In this instance the act escaped the attention of the officer in charge, who was otherwise engaged at the moment. The carbine accidentally went off, and the woordie major fell, shot through the head.

LORD BRABOURNE, who as Mr. Knatchbull-Hugessen was Under-Secretary for the Colonies in Mr. Gladstone's former Administration, has subscribed to a Conservative Association in Kent, accompanying his subscription with a letter in which he says :—"It appears to me that the time has now come when men who have hitherto called themselves Moderate Liberals must choose between giving their support to what is called the Conservative Party, or allowing the weight of their influence and character to be cast on the side of men whose opinions are in reality far more at variance with their own."

BOMBAY OUTSTRIPPING CALCUTTA.

THE Civil and Military Gazette, of Lahore, writes as follows in regard to the growing trade of Bombay :—

LAST year, for the first time, the import trade of Bombay actually exceeded that of Bengal; the total value being 21 crores 51 lakhs, against 21 crores 43 lakhs from the latter presidency. The export trade is rapidly following a similar course; the figures last year having been—Bengal 32 crores 83 lakhs, Bombay 32 crores 63 lakhs, which is the smallest difference yet attained. It seems as if, omitting the exceptional wheat trade of two years, the shipping trade of Calcutta had ceased to expand, while that of Bombay is steadily growing, year by year, with the increasing prosperity of the country. The completion of the Rajputana Railway and its various branches, together with recent improvements in dock accommodation, has given the Bombay trade an advantage against which Calcutta, with its longer sea voyage, the tortuous course of the Hooghly, and heavier shipping charges, finds it hard to contend. To what extent the Central Provinces Railway may give a fresh impetus to the trade of Calcutta, remains to be seen; but certain it is, that if the capital of India is not to be outstripped by the sister presidency, some aid of this description must come to the rescue. But we fear that it is not owing to external circumstances alone, that the trade of Calcutta has ceased to grow; the superior enterprise of the mercantile community Bombay, both European and native, has also had much to do with bringing about this result. While in Bombay every opportunity is turned to the greatest account, with all the energy of a growing community, in Calcutta there is an apparent lethargy, which is the natural outcome of long continued prosperity. Proof of such an assertion may be difficult, but it is not wanting. It is by no means an infrequent remark on the part of upcountry purchasers, that their chief satisfaction is to be obtained in getting things from Bombay than Calcutta. Not only are prices often cheaper, but there is a far greater desire to please, which contrasts most favourably with the Calcutta style of "take it or want it," and which more than compensates for a difference in railway charges. Where the difference in railway charges is slight, the natural result of such a state of things is, that contracts are transferred from the one presidency to the other, and other large connections are formed, which, when once lost, cannot be recovered. It is well that the merchants and tradesmen of Calcutta should take these things to heart, or they may yet be rudely wakened from a dream in which they have too long slumbered.

MAHOMEDAN SHARPERS.—At the Fort Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Ryan, Inspector Young charged two Mahomedans named Vuzeer Cassim and Sheik Alli Mohudeen with cheating a Marwaree named Tarachand Rachand in respect of Rs. 40. It appears that for some time the two accused, known as ring droppers, used to ply their trade between the Market and the Boree-bunder terminus. They used to wait at the terminus and watch for the new arrivals by the trains. Fixing on some unsophisticated-looking native, one would go in front of him and drop a spurious ornament, so that he would be sure to see and pick it up. Both the rogues would then come up to him and look at the ornament. After admiring it and fixing a large sum as its probable value, one would offer to buy it; but being generally avaricious, the "finder" would wish to keep it, and give the sharpers half its nominal value as hush-money. In this way the complainant was cheated out of a sum of Rs. 40. He reported the matter to Mr. Young, when it was found that the ornament was spurious. The accused were arrested last Sunday while trying to palm off a massive brass ring on to a villager who had just arrived, representing to him that it was of gold. Being old offenders, the magistrate sentenced the first accused to eighteen months' and the second to twelve months' rigorous imprisonment.

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION.—A Mahomedan named Subdaralisha Hooseinsha was charged yesterday, at the Girgaum Police Court, before Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee, with attempting to abduct a child. On Monday morning, at about 9 o'clock, a Hindoo girl of the age of five years, the daughter of a ghorawalla, was strolling about in the compound of a bungalow at the Tank-road in the occupation of the Rev. Mr. Mackichan. The girl had some ornaments on her person, valued at about Rs. 30. A Parsee lady, who was driving past, caught the accused in the act of wrapping up the child in a big cloth, preparatory to carrying her away. She immediately ordered the carriage to stop and sent down her ayah, who was with her, to see what the accused was doing. Seeing that he was detected he ran away, but was pursued and arrested by a Parsee gentleman who came up, and handed over to the police. The evidence of the Parsee lady, whom his worship complimented on her presence of mind, and of the other witnesses clearly established the charge against the accused. In disposing of the case his worship said that it would be impossible to say what he would have done to the girl after robbing her if he had not been thwarted in his designs. Taking the most lenient view of the case, that he intended only to steal the ornaments, it would be necessary to inflict the highest penalty. The accused was sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment.

A SON-IN-LAW'S GRATITUDE.—Yesterday at the Fort Police Court, before Mr. Webb, Haribai, a Baniah woman, charged her son-in-law, named Jadooram, and two others with stealing Rs. 800 worth of jewellery. Jadooram, it appeared, arrived at his mother-in-law's place from his native village on a visit, about a month ago, bringing with him two friends, the accused. The complainant, at Jadooram's request, allowed them to put up at her house. After a short stay they informed her that they were about to leave for their native place. Thinking it was a nice chance to send her son away with them, as he had been misbehaving himself of late, the complainant asked Jadooram if he would take care of the lad. This he agreed to do. On the day fixed for their departure Haribai opened a box to take out some money to give to her son-in-law for the expenses of the journey. While doing so, it appears, the accused, who were all in the room, happened to see a large number of ornaments in the box, and when complainant left the room for a moment they took them and put them about their persons. They then hastened their departure. Some days after, having occasion to go to her box, the complainant saw that her ornaments were not there. She reported the fact to the police, and mentioned her suspicions of her son-in-law and his friends. Inquiries were made, and it was found that the accused were at a village in Bhotaj. A warrant was procured, and they were arrested by the Bhiwingaree police. Pleading guilty, Nos. 1 and 2 were sentenced to six months' imprisonment, and No. 3 was discharged.

THE KHANDEISH SPINNING AND WEAVING COMPANY.

THE annual ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of this company was held yesterday afternoon, Mr. Vundrawundas Purshotumdas presiding. The following report of the directors for the year ending 31st December last was submitted to the meeting :—

Your directors now beg to submit their 11th annual report of the working of the mill for the year ending 31st December 1884, and the mill account and balance sheet and statement of profit and loss it will be seen that the profit of the company during the year under review amounts to Rs. 70,373 13-4. Your directors are glad to be able to say that your company's yarn and cloth find ready sales in the districts, but owing to the markets for both having continued heavily depressed, very little margin was left for profit in the production, as will be seen from the figures regret that the result has not proved so satisfactory as they anticipated. Your directors have paid in October last an interim dividend at the rate of Rs. 30 per share and Rs. 7½ per quarter share which amounted to Rs. Rs. 22,492-8-0; they now propose to pay at the same rate a dividend for the latter half year ended 31st December 1884, which will absorb Rs. 22,492-8-0; to carry to the credit of the deterioration of machinery and building account, Rs. 25,000; the balance to be carried to next year's account, Rs. 388-13-4; 70,373-13-4.

The above report and accounts were approved and adopted. A dividend was declared at the rate of Rs. 30 per whole and Rs. 7½ per quarter share, Rs. 25,000 were carried to the credit of deterioration of machinery and building account, and a balance of Rs. 388-13-4 was carried to next year's account. Messrs. Vundrawundas Purshotumdas and Vullubdas Valjee were re-elected directors; and Messrs. Ghellabhoy Huridas and Framjee Temooljee were appointed auditors at a remuneration of Rs. 125 each. A vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the proceedings.

THE ANNUAL DURBAR AT POONA.

THE Council Hall, Poona, presented a gay appearance on Monday evening when the Annual Durbar in commemoration of the Queen's Birthday was held by Mr. A. C. Watt, the Agent of the Sirdars of the Deccan. Nearly five hundred invitations had been issued to the Sirdars and other gentlemen, and from half-past four in the evening there was an uninterrupted roll of carriages towards the Hall.

Mr. Watt said :—Owing to the absence of my friend Sir William Wedderburn for whom I am acting, the duty devolves on me of meeting you at the anniversary durbar held by the agent in honour of the birthday of her most Gracious Majesty the Queen-Empress of India. Her Majesty ascended the throne in A. D. 1837, so the present is the 48th year of Her Majesty's reign, the duration of which has now exceeded by three years that of Queen Elizabeth; I am sure, gentlemen, that you will join with me in favourably hoping that Her Majesty may continue for many years to come to enjoy health and strength to enable Her to rule over us.

Her Majesty's third son, Prince Arthur Patrick Duke of Connaught has now completed his term of residence and service in India, and leaves us for England to-morrow, where, in course of time, His Royal Highness will probably succeed his relative the Duke of Cambridge as Commander-in-Chief of the army. In allowing one of her sons to remain so long in India, and that too separated from his children, her Majesty has given another instance of her desire that the Royal Princes shall become acquainted with India and its people, its people who form the most important part of Her Majesty's Empire. I am sure, gentlemen, that had circumstances permitted the Duke and Duchess, of Connaught to visit Poona, you would have given them a most loyal and cordial welcome. Of other remarkable events which have happened during the last year one has been the departure from India of Lord Dufferin, late Viceroy. As I was then in office when his lordship left, I am only able to speak of what then took place from what I have heard and read, but I am sure that it will be long before Lord Ripon himself or the people of India forget that outburst of loyal enthusiasm which took place in Bombay and elsewhere when His Lordship left India. The most important event in this Presidency during the year has been the departure of Sir James Fergusson on the termination of His Governorship. His Excellency, as you all know, loved India, and when probably much occupied came to Poona and laid the foundation-stones of two educational institutions, one of which was for female education; the great interest which Sir J. Fergusson took in education and railway extension will long be gratefully remembered in this Presidency, and the great personal interest which we know he took in many of the chiefs and sirdars will make his loss felt by many of those here. It afforded me much pleasure to be present in this place on the occasion of the presentation of the Sirdars' address to Sir James Fergusson, which was read of my old friend the Pant Sudasive, and hope you will all remember and follow the advice Sir James Fergusson gave in his answer to the address as to the care which should be exercised to guarding against any lowering of the prestige and high position which the Sirdars of the Deccan enjoy. The agent for the Sirdars receives many applications in his recommendations to Government that persons should be appointed Sirdars, and that their names should be raised from a lower to a higher class. To comply with such applications would be pleasant and easy enough, but if the agent in all cases were to do so, then the result would follow which James Fergusson warned you against. As connected with the subject of education mentioned already, I am sure that all of you who personally knew him will have heard with much regret during the past year of the death of Sir Alexander Jardine who so long was connected with the Education Department of the Presidency. He was a distinguished classical scholar, a kind and genial man, and as Director of Public Instruction he did good and solid work. The Agent's Durbar is not, I believe, an occasion for entering upon any political subject, but no doubt many of you, gentlemen, will have been reading with interest the accounts of the complications which have arisen between England and Russia on the Afghan question. Wars and preparations for wars are evils, though unhappily at times necessary ones, but it often happens that good grows out of evil. But why allude to this subject now? It is in order to congratulate you upon the good which has arisen in this case. I mean, of course, the many manifestations of loyalty combined with offers of actual and substantial aid made by many if not

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Drs. Engler and Jansz are, by the exercise of their peculiar skill, doing a great deal of good in Bangalore. We have paid a casual visit to Dr. Engler's surgery to see for ourselves what is being done in the way of cures. Of coure we speak unprofessionally, but we do not know that professional knowledge is required to judge as to results when seeing and hearing of patients themselves are freely allowed. Three cases of blindness, two nearly total, and one total in one eye, were, according to the testimony of the sufferers themselves, progressing with wonderful favourableness. One in which inflammation and granulation of the inner surface of the eye-lids had lasted for months, and had caused ulceration of the eye-ball, was almost cured after about a fortnight's treatment, although previous treatment had failed to give relief. In another case, where both eyes were seriously affected the patient was considerably better, and in the one in which the sight of one eye had been lost, it was restored, and though not completely recovered, was on a fair way towards it. This patient freely and without effort read from a newspaper with the injured eye, though no sight whatever was in it a few days previous. In cases of deafness Dr. Engler seems even more certain of success than in blindness. One little girl, who had been deaf for years, was restored so far as to be able to hold a conversation in ordinary tones; she heard the softest spoken words and answered to them, and heard the ticking of a watch held from four to six inches from her ears. Two soldiers belonging to the garrison, suffering from deafness, have been cured; one, a man who had been in hospital for weeks and been blistered and put to great pain by ordinary treatment, perfectly recovered his hearing in twenty-four hours.

We are quite aware that any detailed notice of such cures as these are apt to be looked at askance by the general public. But this, we fancy, is the result of the infrequency of such notices. Why men who benefit the suffering members of the public, as Drs. Engler and Jansz are undoubtedly doing, should receive no attention from the press, when whole columns are given up to descriptions of the tricks of some travelling juggler, it would be perhaps hard to explain. It is a fact, however, that while the public naturally has to pay for both, the one who goes most good is the least noticed.—Bangalore Spectator Dec. 1883.

MILITARY SQUARE, BOMBAY.

TOWER CLOCK FACTORY,

NO. 24 CHURCH-GATE-STREET,

BOMBAY.

THE ABOVE FACTORY has been established with a view principally to manufacturing locally EVERY CLASS of TOWER, TURRET, MILL AND OTHER DESCRIPTIONS or PUBLIC CLOCKS or TIME-PIECES, WIT DIALS from 2 to 40 FEET or MORE in DIAMETER.

Having secured the services of an eminent Engineer and Mechanical Draftsman who for many years held the position of Foreman in one OF THE LARGEST CLOCK FACTORIES IN EUROPE and being provided with all the necessary appliances, such as Lathes for Wheelcutting, Planing, Turning, Rivetting, Stretching and every kind of tool for the Manuacture of Clocks we are now in a position to undertake and turn out the above class of Machinery of WHATEVER DESCRIPTION at the SHORTEST POSSIBLE NOTICE and MUCH LOWER COST THAN THAT IMPORTED from EUROPE, saying nothing of the cost of Freight, Insurance, Risk of Breakage and LAST BUT NOT LEAST, THE HEAVY LOSS IN STERLING EXCHANGE.

We have made it our standard rule to turn out nothing short of the best workmanship and employ none but the best Material necessary, as will be amply proved by the clocks that have already been manufactured and fixed in place by us.
